UTTC program to mark King Holiday

UTN – United Tribes Technical College will host an observance of the Martin Luther King, Jr. national holiday, on Monday, January 17 beginning at 10 a.m. in the lower level of the Jack Garden Center.

“We plan to emphasize the life of Dr. King,” said Julie Cain, event coordinator. “Our students will be involved, as well as people from the community.”

The UTTC Culture Committee sponsors the event, which is open to the public.

According to the website of the King Center in Atlanta, GA, the theme for the 19th Anniversary Celebration of the King Holiday in January 2005 is: Remember! Celebrate! Act! A Day On . . . Not A Day Off.

The King Center is the primary promoter of the holiday observance. The center says it continues to emphasize Dr. King's service to humanity.

The luck of the draw December 15 for the gazebo, built and raffled by UTTC Carpentry Club students, went to Dr. Kyle Patterson-Cross, UTTC's Research Director, who didn't believe at first that she won. "I've never won anything this big," said Dr. Cross. "I'm so surprised, I never thought I'd win." Enjoying the moment, at rear from left, Carpentry Club President Larry [unclear] (Three Affiliated), and club members Kenneth Brown and Eli Wright (both Standing Rock). Dr. Cross said she'd donate the gazebo to the college for placement near a walking trail to be constructed on campus. The raffle raised $1,350 for future carpentry club projects.

World AIDS Day Activities 2004

Story and photos by Sharlene Gjermundson

World AIDS Day activities were held on December 1 at the Skill Center Exhibit Hall. The day started off slowly but by mid-morning activity began to pick up. Dr. Linda Gorneau was the keynote speaker. Dr. Gorneau talked about the spread of the disease especially in Canada and in women across the United States as well as the world.

Dr. Gorneau provided information of how the disease affects the body, how it is transmitted and treated. After Dr. Gorneau finished her presentation, there was a short question and answer period. Participants were asked to decorate a red ribbon in memory of someone who they knew that had HIV/AIDS or just to decorate the ribbon in the spirit of the Christmas season to place on Student Health's Christmas tree.

Free HIV testing was offered to staff and students at the Student Health Center from 1-4 p.m. in the afternoon. Twelve people took advantage of the free testing. The Student Health Center would like to especially thank Dennis Renville and his Injury Prevention students who made a special effort to participate in the event. Overall, 45 staff and students participated.

Folic Acid can benefit everyone

by Kim Hinnenkamp

Folic acid is good for you, no matter who you are. It's particularly beneficial to women who could become pregnant because it can help prevent some birth defects.

The UTTC Extension Program as a member of the North Dakota Healthy Pregnancy Task Force is working to spread this message. The task force consists of Extension agents, public health nutritionists, nurses and many other health-care professionals across the state. They also serve as the Public Service Committee for the March of Dimes.

Some studies indicate folic acid also can help reduce the risk of heart disease, strokes, some cancers and Alzheimer's disease in men and women. Folic acid helps break down homocysteine, an amino acid, in the body. High levels of homocysteine have been linked to a higher risk of heart disease, strokes and peripheral vascular disease.

The national Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommend that women of childbearing age have 400 micrograms of folic acid daily.

Folic acid is a B vitamin that's available as a supplement, either by itself or in a multivitamin. It's also in food such as leafy green vegetables, edible dry beans, peanuts, and orange juice, as well as cereals, rice and pasta that have been fortified with folic acid.

For more information about folic acid, contact Kim Hinnenkamp or Kelly Archambault, UTTC Extension/WIC Program at ext. 1397 or 1316.

Don't know what to do with your used, unwanted cell phone?

Donate it to the Abused Adult Resource Center to help survivors of abuse!

We provide cell phones directly to survivors or we can turn them into funds to provide services. Just drop off your phone and battery at the United Tribes Library or at the AARC, 218 W. Broadway. If you want to know more, call the AARC 222-8370.

UTTC is collection point for used cell phone drive

Submitted by the Abused Adult Resource Center

"Break the silence. End the violence."

That's the slogan for the Abused Adult Resource Center's renewed collection drive for used, unwanted cell phones.

United Tribes Technical College is among the businesses and organizations in Bismarck and Mandan that have joined the community campaign. The college library is a collection point.

"Donating a used, unwanted cell phone is another way people can help survivors of abuse in our community," said Diane Zainhofsky, AARC executive director. "We're grateful for the organizations and businesses who have joined us in the collection drive."

Bismarck Mayor John Warford and Mandan Mayor Ken LaMont have joined in urging people to donate their phones and businesses to sign up as cell phone drop sites.

AARC plans to continue the drive indefinitely. People are asked to take their used, unwanted cell phones and batteries to these locations during working hours:

Bismarck

Herberger's Department Store, Kirkwood Mall
Bismarck State College - Student Union

AARC is partnering with Shelter Alliance, a Miramar, Florida, firm that specializes in the logistics and underwriting of fundraising programs through the collection, resale, and responsible recycling of used cellular phones. AARC can receive up to $25 per cell phone from Shelter Alliance, depending on the phone's age and condition. Shelter Alliance works with more than 500 domestic violence agencies in 47 states and expects to contribute over $500,000 to domestic violence programs nationwide, entirely funded through its cell phone collection program.

Through Verizon Wireless and donations, AARC continues to provide survivors with cell phones for emergency use.

For more information about donating your cell phone, contact Kathy Berg at the AARC at 222-8370. AARC serves domestic violence and sexual assault survivors in south-central North Dakota.

Scholarship Announcement

The American Indian Education Foundation is dedicated to serving Native American students who have resided on reservations across the country. Every year we are able to grant over $200,000 worth of awards. Because so many Native American students are faced with financial hurdles when planning their journey through college, the AIEF wants to do everything we can do to support these students.

In addition to monetary funding, the AIEF provides a mentoring component to the students who are participating in our program. Throughout the year students are supported by us through care packages, phone calls, birthday cards and whatever else we can do to make their time in college more comfortable.

Applicant Criteria:

- Native American or Alaska Native descent
- Attending an accredited or 2 or 4 year college/university or technical/vocational school
- Must be enrolled as a full-time student
- An ACT score or 14 or above is desirable
- Scholarships are only for undergraduate studies.

•Scholarships available through the American Indian Education Foundation:

Freshman Scholarship

Available to graduating high school seniors; $3,000 to be awarded for the first school year only.

Undergraduate Scholarship

Available to students who are entering, continuing or returning to school and are not high school seniors; $1,500 awarded for the school year.

Paul Francis & Josephine Nipper Memorial Scholarships

All finalists are eligible to be reviewed for the Memorial Scholarships; priority will be given to applicants who show true commitment to bettering their community. Amount varies each year.

Application Guidelines for Native American Congressional Internships

Accepting Applications from Dec 1, 2004 to January 31, 2005

The completed application packet must be received no later than January 31, 2005 and sent to the following address:

The Morris K. Udall Foundation
Internship Program
130 South Scott Avenue
Tucson, AZ 85701-1922

If you have any questions or need assistance in completing your application please contact:

Monica Nuvamsa, Program Coordinator
(520) 670-5187 or (520) 670-5529
E-mail: nuvamsa@udall.gov

Purpose

The Udall Foundation established the Native American Congressional Internship Program to give Native American students an opportunity to learn about the federal government from the inside. Each year, twelve candidates are selected for a ten-week, intensive internship in Washington, D.C. Interns work full time in congressional offices or federal agencies, fulfilling a variety of tasks ranging from general support work to special research and writing projects. This enables interns to observe government decision-making processes on a daily basis, including attending hearings and votes in the House and Senate. Through an enrichment component of the program, students are provided with the opportunity to network, meet key decision-makers; and attend lectures, special lunches and receptions.

This program will provide people of Native American ancestry with practical experiences in the legislative process, congressional matters, and governmental proceedings.

Provisions

Interns are provided with the following:

- Roundtrip airfare to Washington, D.C. from the closest airport to the intern's home or school
- Dormitory lodging at a local university.
- Daily allowance sufficient for meals, transportation, and incidentals.
- A $1,200 educational stipend to be paid at the conclusion of the internship.

Please note that lodging is for the intern only. Family and friends cannot be accommodated, as each intern will be assigned another intern as a roommate. Interns should not undertake this commitment if their personal or financial obligations prevent them from being in Washington, D.C. for ten consecutive weeks. Exceptions will be made on a case-by-case basis for students attending schools that end late.

Guidelines

Interns will be selected by an independent committee. Applicants must demonstrate a commitment to learning about the federal government. They must be self-motivated and interested in taking advantage of the rich and diverse resources available to them in Washington, D.C. Additionally, candidates for the internship program must:

- Fall under the Foundation's definition of Native American or Alaska Native (*see below).
- Be a college junior, senior, graduate student, law student, or graduating from a tribal college. (Applications from freshmen and sophomore students will be considered on a case-by-case basis.)
- Have a minimum 3.0 GPA or a "B" average. (Applications from students with lower GPAs will be accepted on a case by case basis.)
- Have an interest in tribal government and policy.

- Be a U.S. citizen, a permanent resident, or, in the case of applicants from American Samoa, a U.S. national.

* For the purposes of the Udall Native American Congressional Internship Program, a Native American or Alaska Native is any individual who is (1) a member of an Indian tribe or band, as membership is defined by the tribe or band, including any tribe or band terminated since 1940 and any tribe recognized by the state in which the tribe or band resides; (2) a descendent, in first or second degree, of a member of an Indian tribe or band, as membership is defined by the tribe or band; (3) considered by the Secretary of the Interior to be an Indian for any purpose; or (4) an Eskimo, Aleut, or other Alaska Native.

Internship Conditions

The Foundation seeks bright, self-motivated students who will make the most of this opportunity. Students must have strong leadership skills and who are positive role models and representatives of their community. For most interns, the internship is both exhilarating and challenging. The political climate of Washington, D.C. can prove to be full of new opportunities for newcomers, therefore, the Foundation also seeks students who are able to adapt easily to demands on time, juggling multiple priorities, and are able to navigate well in a new living environment. Overall, the Foundation is seeking those who will adjust well and are willing to take positive lessons home to their tribes.

Interns must:

- Complete the entire ten weeks of full-time work in the assigned office in Washington, D.C. (tentatively scheduled to begin Memorial Day weekend);

- Work exclusively for the Morris K. Udall Foundation Internship Program for ten full consecutive weeks;
- Upon completion of the program, submit a typed narrative of approximately 350 words. The narrative will briefly describe the benefits of the internship experience;
- Complete a written evaluation of the program prior to conclusion;
- Conduct themselves in a professional manner and represent the ideals of Congressman Udall and the program;
- Understand and agree that lodging is for the intern only. Family and friends cannot be accommodated, as each intern will be assigned another intern as a roommate; and
- Maintain annual contact with the Foundation.

Interns should not undertake this commitment if their personal or financial obligations prevent them from being in Washington, D.C. for ten consecutive weeks. Exceptions will be made on a case-by-case basis for students attending schools that end late.

Applications Procedures

Applications should include:

- Completed Intern Application Form with original signature.
- 5 completed short answers.
- Completed applicant essay (up to 800 words).
- Three references. The applicant must secure references from each of the following: a tribal or community leader, a faculty member in the applicant's field of study, and another individual who can attest to the applicant's potential. Each individual must complete the Reference and Evaluation Form AND write a letter of reference. All three letters must be in a signed and sealed envelope mailed directly to the Foundation or included in the completed application package.
- Official College Transcripts. (Official transcripts may take several weeks to process - order them in December to make sure you have them in time.)
- Professional Resume. Please include an objective, education history, professional experience, clubs & organizations, awards & recognition and related experience, i.e., coursework, research projects, and extracurricular activities.
- Verification or proof of tribal enrollment. (CIB, enrollment card, other).

The completed application package must be received by January 31, 2005.

One step from being a 'master mechanic'

Tony LaVallie (Spirit Lake) left, brought home a Silver Certificate recently from a training session in Chicago. It added to his considerable experience with Hyundai automobiles. A class of 2000 graduate of UTTC's Automotive Service Technician program, LaVallie was hired right out of school by Bismarck Honda-Nissan-Hyundai and is now the company's head Hyundai Service Technician.

"You bet I believe in him," said Tom Wolbaum, the company's service director and Tony's supervisor. "He's an excellent employee. We've invested in his training. One more class and he becomes a master mechanic."

Tony credits his wife Deborah, a housing assistant in UTTC's department of Student and Campus Services, with encouraging him to go to school. UTN photo Dennis J. Neumann
